Course Overview

Our popular integration programmes offer students the opportunity to experience UK school life and culture, while attending a local school. Programmes can either be full-time integration, or combine this with 15 hours of English tuition each week. Integration programmes are run through primary and secondary schools in Oxford and Cheltenham. In secondary schools, students are paired with a local student “buddy,” who they will accompany to all of their lessons each day. Students taking part in an integration programme can expect to experience a variety of classes across the week and fully immerse themselves into British school life. In primary schools, students will have a set timetable to follow alongside their local peers, such as sports, music and art lessons. The host school may also arrange specific integration activities such as local visits and assemblies.

Who is this course suitable for?

Our integration programmes are particularly suitable for students who already have a grasp of English and are looking to improve their fluency and confidence in an immersive language and cultural environment.
