Course Overview

Our Anglia Ruskin University Summer Vacation programme combines English lessons with getting to know the historic city of Cambridge. Our lessons place emphasis on activating students' existing language skills, while putting a real focus on authentic communication and developing study skills. Lessons are based on a communicative approach, with student confidence at the core of our syllabus and methodology. The social programme complements the academic programme, with visits to some of Cambridge's most famous attractions, colleges, museums, and historical sites.

Who is this course suitable for?

International students who wish to have a taste of life in a Cambridge university, and who are academically driven and ambitious. The course offers a mix of academic enrichment, social opportunities with other international students, and a rich activity and excursion programme with activities and visits in and around Cambridge, and visits to nearby cities such as Oxford, London, and Canterbury.
